General Comments:	Your power volleyball game clearly engaged the majority of the 50 plus students in the gym for this class period. Your demonstration of the warm-up activities was very clear, and you monitored the students as they repeated the steps of the warm-up. Your continual movement throughout the room for the entire period was also a good teaching practice, as the potential for disengagement among some students can be very high in such a large classroom. Your dress and demeanor were also very professional.
